A Family Dinner on Washington Square

One night.
One long table.
One simple idea:

Pause the outside world.
Break bread with neighbors.
Share something meaningful.
Build community.

The Experience

Think: your favorite backyard gathering meets a slow dinner party meets a perfect Instagram reel.

Simple, seasonal menu:
Soup. Bread. Wine. Tea. Water.

Long tables down the middle of the street,
candlelit and casual.

Everyone brings their own dishware — which keeps
it simple, sustainable,
and a little bit fun.

Live music and vibes
— Ozay is scheduled at Nelson Gallery that night.

Dinner is served family-style,
and everyone helps out.
It's intentionally unfussy
and deeply memorable.

Cost

$10/ticket + contribution of either time or supplies.

Possible ways to contribute include: assisting with check-in, serving soup, helping with cleanup, or donating needed supplies.

Please check with Nelson
Gallery for how you can help!
